

CONTINUE TO GROW STRATEGICALLY

Running a manufacturing business you face many complex issues every day. Your resources are stretched, time is limited, competition is fierce, and new challenges persist. During all of this, how do you efficiently and strategically grow your business? As an owner, or operator of a manufacturing business, it is important to invest the time to regularly step outside of your company to reflect and gain perspective.

The Advanced Manufacturing Growth Centre (AMGC) has established a dedicated Manufacturing Council initiative to bring together like-minded leaders. To provide you with an opportunity to step back and rise above the day-to-day to discuss strategic issues with other successful industry leaders and start to focus on what's most critical in the business.

AMGC's Manufacturing Councils are intended to become the premier voice for Australia's enthusiastic and innovative manufactures, and the industry's leading peer-to-peer network. Delivered in partnership with a proven executive mentoring organisation, AMGC's advisory process supports manufacturing leaders to efficiently grow their organisation and to create a purposeful roadmap to fulfil their vision.

Grow Business: Research has proven that companies that network and collaborate boost revenues by 8 per cent.

Solve Problems: With AMGC's strong network and proven peer-to-peer delivery model, Council participation leverages collective industry experience to address business pinch points and challenges.

Lifelong Learning: The race for excellence has no finish line. Our exclusive learning platform and best practice toolkits keep manufacturers at the forefront of their industry.

AMGC Research has found that

Australian manufacturers want to connect and collaborate with other manufacturers. Yet only 12% of Australian manufacturers currently collaborate with other firms."

Our proven program of peer advisory groups, executive coaching, and fast-paced learning provides lasting impact. A membership to AMGC's Manufacturing Councils gives you access to join a trusted circle of leaders who will help you succeed.
